iCandy pear multi-mode system

iCandy offers modern parents a stylish travel solution of the highest quality and excellent design.

The pear offers parents great flexibility whether they are expecting twins or a second child. The multi-functional pip converter creates many combinations with options from newborn twins to a newborn and toddler. Large front wheels give perfect stability, the multi-position seat units easily convert into carrycots using the carrycot fabrics and adaptors are available to add one or two infant car seats (sold separately). The pear can be used as a single mode at any time by removing the pip converter.
